BUREAU OF SANIFARY INSPECTION.

TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH:

GENTLEMEN—Several reports have been received at this Bureau of sudden deaths having occurred at 445 Eleventh avenue, in the family of Mr. Brown, said to be by spotted fever tecerbor-spinal meningitis. The first was reported on the 20th January ultimo. The second death occurred February 5, the third february 7, and on the 11th a fourth. These deaths all occurred among children, their ages being six and hall years, four years, cleven years, and fifteen months; one other child, presenting similar symptoms, aged thirteen years, and the history of all exhibited the fact that they were taken sick at night.

The detailed history of the case is as follows:

First Case.—Albert Brown, aged seven years, while at school on the 50th of January, said he was kicked in the stomach by a school mate, falling from the orice of the blow, striking his head against an from the orice of the blow, striking his head against an from the orice of the blow, striking his head against an from the orice of the blow, striking his head against an from the orice of the blow, striking his head against an from the orice of the blow, striking his head against an from the orice of the blow of the blo

4 liness, int discover, aged thirteen years, was taken at about two o'ctock A. M., on the morning of the 6th with pain in the head, moaning and crying out. A physic, Dr. J. O. Small, was called, and describes this case as was:—Intelligence, perfect; pulse, rapid; had been by excited over her two brothers' deaths; the skin of follows:—Intelligence, perfect; pulse, rapid; had been greatly exteted over her two brothers' deaths; the skin of natural warmth and molet; some yomiting had occurred; bowels were soluble, urine reported normal. The only complaint was of pain over the entire basd, not severe; no pain elsewhere; pupils natural. Having no suspicion then of blood poisoning, I thought the case one of nervous exhaustion from the excitement and fatigue. He saw her again on the 7th, and pays:—"Found her in much distress, complaining of her bead, wandering in mind, pupils somewhat dialest, intelligence perfect. There was great hyperaestheria of the entire cutaneous surface with especial tenderness of the large points which she called rheumatism, a disease she once had. The fongus was covered with a white coat, not dry; pulse 130, of good volume; had slept but little, had vomited and had movement of the bowles." Subsequently a few spots of a petechial cruption appeared over the trunk and thichs—not abundant. This girl still complained on the 10th instant of acute pain in the head, conflict to the frontal portion, also of much tenderness of limbs and body and general sorceiess. There was no special tenderness upon pressing the spine, from the head to the sacrum, but some vain was complained of over the nochanter of the right side. On the 12th instant her symptoms were much improved and she appeared to be almost entirely free from pain or soreness, and no cruption could be discovered upon any part of the body or limbs.

M., compaining of pain in his head and heart. He had been to his brother's funeral the afternoon previous, a distance of six or seven miles, and seemed very much depressed and excited over his coss. On his return he ate a hearty supper and went to bed and first complained of pain in his head and vomited. The father went for a physician. Dr. Sewall called and thus described the condition of the patient at the time: — "Condition moribund, with a cadaverous countenance, of deep iteroue hue." In this case there had been no convulsions. His death shock place at about two o'clock F. M., Sunday.

Fith Car.—Louiss H. Brown, aged fiftee mounts, pursing whild, was taken with vomiting at about one o'clock on the morning of the 10th instant. A post-mortem examination of this schild showed congestion of the blood vessels of the brain and no effusion in the cavities.

A post-mortem camination of this ichild showed congestion of the blood vessels of the brain sand no effusion in the cavities.

The medical history of these cases, although imperfect and somewhat obscure, the symptoms for the most part being detailed by the parents sulfering under the anxieties and excitements of the occasion, do not seem to present all those ascribed to true cerebro-spinal meningitis. But that there was a blood poison which had produced these results there was a blood poison which had produced these results there could be no doubt; that there should be found a direct cause there seemed no question. It was differently searched for and found. Upon a careful examination of the systems of drainage belonging to these premises the following conditions were discovered:—This house, No. 465, and the adjoining house, No. 465, were found to have a common privy wattleand on sever connecting from kitches sinked to the house No. 100 to the street meeting with it. FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 14-6 P. M. On 'Change to-day wheat was dult and strong. The cotton market was heavy and lower.

MONEY BASIER. The money market was easier and the stock-holders were more freely supplied at six per cent, although outstanding loans at seven per cent were not as a rule disturbed, while there was a fair amount of new business at the latter rate. To the government dealers large balances were loaned at five per cent, the rates among the brokers in these collaterals being five and six per cent.

Commercial paper was steady and quoted 7 a 8

ADVANCE IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE. A scarcity in commercial bills on Europe and the recent large demand for remittance against im-ported bonds have combined to stiffen the foreign exchanges, and the leading drawers advanced their sterling rates 1/4 per cent to-day. As there is no steamer until Saturday there was not much doing, rates at the close ranging as follows:-100% a 109% for good to prime bankers' sixty days sterling, and

The domestic market for governments, in keeping pace with the foreign fluctuations, allows less opportunity for fluctuations in gold, the course of which to-day is snown in the a firm tone, most of the day, but became weak and rapidly declined in the last hour of business, the dealings toward the closing of the Stock Exchange being at a range of fully one per cent below the midday prices for the several leading special-ties, such as Union Pacific, Pacific Mail, Western Union and Ohio and Mississippi, while elsewhere the decline ranged from three-eighths to three-quarters per cent. The attention of the street was stul largely concerned fluctuated between the extremes of 47% and 42. A great deal of stock was bought in for the account of brokers who failed to make their deliveries in the old certificates, which for this use were worth at one time as high as one-half per cent, or $50 for every hundred shares. The brokers of the "ring" who have issued the additional five millions of capi tal made their tenders of the new stock to-day, and in each case took along a notary and a witness of the proceeding, who recorded and subscribed to the facts of the tender of the stock. Meantime the Stock Exchange insists upon the old certificates as being the only "good deliveries," its action in that respect being confirmed by the Governing Commutee, who, at another special meeting this afternoon, thoroughly discussed the question and decided that as the transfer signatures of the Messrs. Duncan, Sherman & Co. were a registration of the stock to all intents and purposes, as required by the rules of the Board, the new stock will not be a good delivery for thirty days from February 13, after which interval the registration at the Tenta National Bank will be recognized. While some parties shrewdly suspect that all the present commotion has been excited for the purpose of enabling the "ring" to cover their "short" sales, others think that the new certificates which made their appearance to-day are really portions of an extra issue of five militons of common stock. In any event, for thirty days to come it would be well if every owner of the common stock should insist on his broker calling his certificates from the market and refusing to lend them. This course might result in the severe punishment of those who, without the knowledge of the stockholders and without notice of their intentions to the public, have secretly increased the capital of a corporation from four to nine millions. Between the good laith of the Governing Committee in their efforts to suppress the practice of secret stock watering and the knowledge now of stockholders of their power, the present opportunity ought to be taken advantage of to teach the "ring" a costly lesson. It is a pity that some such daring spirit as Commodore Vanderbilt is not interested m the matter, so as to make a "corner" on the 'ring," which, as a punishment of rascality, would be a more striking piece of poetic justice than even the famous Harlem "corner" on the Aldermanic legislative rings of 1863-'64. There was a smart recovery in Harlem, with sales at 113%. The St. Paul stocks were firm and Reading utterly neg-

A THREE THOUSAND DOLLAR BURGLARY.

One of the Burglars Arrested and a Portion of the Stolen Property Recovered.

At an early hour Tuesday morning the saloon of John Earle, corner of West Tenth and West streets, was entered by burgiars, who unlocked the front door with a skeleton key. After gaining an entrance to the place they also unlocked the door of the safe with skeleton keys, and carried off $1,750 in bonds with skeleton keys, and carried of $1,750 in bonds and $972 in money. The fact being reported to Captain Washburn, of the Charles street poice station, he, in company with Detective O'Neill, from descriptions given them, arrested a former bartender in Mr. Earle's employ named Theodore Woodruff. The latter, upon being arrested, admitted the charge and stated the bonds were concealed in a liquor saloon at the corner of Wess and Despresses streets. The officers, upon visiting the place, found the bonds where Woodruff had directed them. They also found in the prisoner's possession $250 of the stolen money.
